Lymphoedema in an interdisciplinary context

Dear colleagues and friends of lymphology,

I am delighted to invite you to Zurich for the fourth Swiss Lymphology Symposium.

While lymphology is not a medical specialism in its own right, when working with various medical experts, we do find situations that trigger oedema. These need to be considered.

That is why, this year, we would like to present a wide variety of topics relating to the occurrence of and treatment options for lymphoedema. We will look at, for example, lymphological aspects and therapy after extensive burns and when treating scar tissue, as well as the issue of complex wounds and their treatment options in cases of lymphoedema.

The visualisation of lymph flow without and with pressure will certainly be impressive. We will also discuss the influence of different types of treatment on patients' quality of life. This gives you an idea of what you can expect from this year's programme. Each presentation will allow ample time for individual questions and discussions afterwards.

This series of talks is aimed at doctors from a wide range of specialisms who are interested in lymphology. Events of this type also provide an opportunity for networking, whether with therapists or professionals from the medical retail sector.

Please keep this day free in your diary so you can join us in Zurich.

Best wishes,
Dr. med. Stephan Wagner
